EVERY LEGEND X BED

STANDARD FEATURES

Unless otherwise specified, all of the following features are standard on our truck beds. Colossus platform bodies are built without receiver or gooseneck hitches.

BUILD

Full steel frame with a 4-inch C-channel for truck frame mounting and a structural subframe using 3-inch channel and tubing. It also includes a 1/8-inch diamond plate deck and 3 1/2-inch headache rack tubing, designed to secure cargo effectively and withstand impacts.

RECEIVER HITCH

Receiver hitch comes standard at 2 1/2" and has been independently tested and rated for 24,000 lbs when attached to the truck frame properly.

FINISH

Four-stage powder coating process. It begins with shot blasting the steel to its raw state, ensuring a clean surface. The steel then undergoes meticulous cleaning and priming before it is powder coated and baked to a pristine finish. The result is a surface that looks sharp and offers UV resistance and protection against corrosion.

COMPRESSION T-LATCHES

For those who value their tools, Legend X Truck Beds offers recessed toolbox doors that ensure maximum cargo protection. Our doors recess into the box, creating a tight seal, while the T-handle compression latches pull the door securely into place when closed.

LED LIGHTING

Our truck beds feature lifetime LED lights that offer exceptional visibility and are DOT-approved. These lights come standard with a smoked-out look, enhancing the overall appearance of the bed.

GOOSENECK HITCH

Gooseneck hitch comes standard with a welded ball, independently tested and rated for 30,000 lbs. It includes a lid to cover the ball when not in use. We also include the gooseneck trailer plug and spring-loaded safety chains.

WIRING

The bed features a recessed 7-way trailer plug located next to the license plate. It is wired to accommodate current plug-and-play options, ensuring compatibility and protection against moisture.
